What do Employers Have to Say?

“We didn’t seek out people with disabilities for employees, they came to us. And instead of thinking why it would not work, we asked ourselves, why wouldn’t this work?”

Beth Behal, Co-owner of Camille’s Sidewalk Café, Sioux Falls

"I am very pleased with Vocational Rehabilitation in Rapid City, especially the ‘try before you buy’ option for assessing a job candidate."

Chad Roth, Superior Siding, Inc., Rapid City

“Culver’s employs people with disabilities and we even welcome job coaches to help train new employees. Culver’s makes it a practice to have diversity in its workforce and even has an assistant manager who is disabled who won an award for outstanding service.”

Brittoney Serie, Assistant Manager, Culver’s, Watertown

“They have completely changed my perception of the label "disabilities". Just because someone has a disability does not mean they are any less qualified as an employee. In working with people with disabilities I have found that they are more reliable, dependable, and happy to be at work than the general population. They have a strong desire to prove themselves as a PERSON and what they bring to the table as an employee and not to be labeled by their disability."

Brad Kehn, General Manager, I-90 Pilot Travel Center, Mitchell
Hiring and retaining productive employees and ensuring your business is accessible is critical and challenging for today’s employers. With the Baby Boom generation on the verge of retirement, you have the opportunity to diversify your workforce and tap an under-utilized resource in South Dakota by hiring qualified individuals with disabilities.

ADA Consultation
Our Vocational Rehabilitation Counselors are a critical resource for information on the Americans with Disabilities Act. When it comes to accessibility in the workplace, Vocational Rehabilitation can assist your business in developing strategies to meet those ADA requirements and reasonable accommodation needs for employees with disabilities.

Vocational Rehabilitation Services to Employers

On-The-Job Training
We can arrange to provide on-site training of the individual you hire based on your business needs, or reimburse you half your employee’s wages while you provide the training yourself.

Job Site Assessments & Evaluations
Job site assessments of your business is an important part of understanding your needs. We examine the job to make sure it can be done to your standards. Situational assessments also help determine if the potential employee can perform the necessary functions of the job.

Employment Support Services
We maintain contact with you and the employee throughout the training process to ensure that your needs are being met.

Disability Awareness & Etiquette Training
Our qualified staff is available to educate you and your employees about disabilities, People First language and disability etiquette.

Employment Readiness Services
We have resources available to assist job seekers with disabilities to prepare them to be “job ready”.

Job Development & Placement Services
Our job placement providers can offer qualified and job ready applicants to meet your employment needs.

Vocational Rehabilitation Resources and Incentives

Vocational Rehabilitation Counselors have the programs and knowledge of resources available to help your business meet the challenges of today’s workforce:
- Work Opportunity Tax Credit
- Employment Skills Training
- Resources for Assistive Technology
- Consulting/Technical Assistance to Employers
- Job Accommodations Network (JAN)
